Caron Kehoe

I was born in Essex, and after many years travelling the country, I returned 8 years ago and now live in Dunmow with my husband and a collection of animals! I originally started training to be a veterinary surgeon at Bristol University then switched courses to Economics and accountancy. I have maintained my interest in animals and currently breed and show Siamese cats, as well as owning two dogs and a horse.

My financial career started in Barclays Bank where I worked for 11 years after graduation. I was lucky enough to work as a manager in Hampstead and Highgate, dealing with all the financial needs of a portfolio of high net wealth individuals, including some celebrities. Towards the end of my time at Barclays, I furthered my qualifications (having already achieved becoming an Associate of the Chartered Institute of Bankers), and also qualified as a financial and mortgage adviser. I was then approached by a client to work for them, and moved into the world of independent financial advice.

I appreciate that sometimes the financial jargon we use can confuse and hinder our industry and so I pay particular attention to making sure I use “plain language” and assist my clients in fully understanding any advice given. My aim is to assist you in reaching your financial goals whether short or long term.

Prior to joining Wingham Wyatt, I worked for a local firm of independent financial advisers based in Bishops Stortford, where I advised clients on mortgages, protection, investments and pensions. I am now delighted to join Wingham Wyatt as an Independent Financial Adviser.

Laura Roberts is my personal assistant. She looks after all the administration of your investments and other policies. She has been with Wingham Wyatt for two years and has a very conscientious and friendly nature and will be pleased to help you in any way she can.
